PROSPERITY

Ahead for Eastern Kentucky Coal District.

NEW MINES BEING OPENED.

And Important Railroad Extensions Under Way.

THE GREAT ELKHORN FIELD.

In the opening up of coal fields for development and in the building of railroad extensions greater process is now being made in Eastern Kentucky than in any other district of the South, and the amount of work accomplished during the present year promises to equal that of the five preceding years. This immense region, which in the richness and extent of coal deposits is unsurpassed, has remained in an undeveloped state for many years on account of its geographical situation, while less-promising fields have been developed on a large scale. The natural barriers are being rapidly overcome by railroads, the moving factors in the opening up of any country, and with the added output of the Eastern fields it will take but a few years to advance Kentucky from second to first place in the list of Southern coal-producing States.

OPENING OF NEW MINES.

In the Southeastern fields, which are partly developed, the output of coal now aggregates more than 5,000 cars monthly. Of this amount about 3,000 cars a year are obtained from the Middleboro district, which extends down into Claiborne county, Tennessee. Along the Cumberland Valley division of the Louisville and Nashville railroad from Corbin to Middleboro numerous short intersecting lines to penetrate new fields are now being constructed, and the output of this section will be doubled within two years, it is confidently predicted. Along the Louisville and Nashville extension fifteen new mines are now being developed between Corbin and Middleboro, and many thousands of dollars are being expended monthly in this new work. Railroad extensions are being constructed out from several points, the most important being that from Artemus to the valley of Brush creek, a distance of fifteen miles. This work is being conducted by the Cumberland Railroad Company, headed by former Governor Stone of Pennsylvania, and when the Brush creek fields are opened up, which will be within a year, several thousand men will be employed in the fields. The railroad will be completed by the first of the year.

Other extensions under way include that from Pineville across the Cumberland river into Bell county, and two extensions from Ely into the Ely district. Most of this work is being conducted by Southeastern Kentucky capitalists.

The marketing facilities for the Southeastern Kentucky product are now excellent. The Southern and the Louisville and Nashville lines give a direct outlet to the South, while the Louisville and Nashville extending north gives an outlet in that direction. The new extension of the Louisville and Nashville to Knoxville opens up an important coal territory in Tennessee.

THE BIG SANDY FIELD.

The opening up of the most important coal field in the South will be accomplished this year when the Chesapeake and Ohio extension up the valley of the Big Sandy river, in Eastern Kentucky, is completed. This line, which will be completed its entire length by the middle of the year, extends from Catfishburg, on the Ohio river, to near the Virginia border, in Pike county, and the territory through which it extends contains in limitless quantities coal of the highest grade. During the past fifteen years Eastern capitalists have been acquiring immense acreages of coal land in that territory, and many millions of dollars have been spent in the purchase of coal lands. The coal deposits are general in the counties of Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd, Knott, Martin and Pike and contiguous territory.

In the coal fields opened up for development by the Chesapeake and Ohio extension there are eleven different seams of coal, varying in thickness from twenty-four inches to eleven feet, all the seams being above drainage and more easily mined. What is known as the Elkhorn cooking coal, varying in thickness from five to six feet, is generally regarded as the best bituminous coal in the country, the famous Connellsville article not excepted. The Chesapeake and Ohio line terminates in Pike county, a few miles from the Virginia line, and it is there that the Elkhorn coal is found in its greatest thickness.

BUILDING COKE OVENS.

Mining in the Big Sandy valley has now begun. Intersecting lines to penetrate the narrow creek valleys are being built and the initial tonnage on the Chesapeake and Ohio promises to be great. Arrangements are being perfected for commencing twenty operations on Marrowbone creek, Pike county, and several operations in various other sections have been started. In the coking fields of Pike county several thousand coke ovens will be built during the next year, and the coking industry in Kentucky will be increased from an annual output of a few thousand tons to several hundred thousand tons. The development of the coking coal fields of Eastern Kentucky is regarded with interest throughout the country. Tests extending over several hundred square miles demonstrate that the coal for coking purposes is unequalled by any other grade, and it is estimated by steel makers that coke of the quality that will be obtained from Eastern Kentucky coal will cheapen the cost of the production of Bessemer steel from 50 cents to $1.00 per ton.

The marketing facilities for this new coal field will equal those of any other field, and Eastern Kentucky operators can easily compete with older fields. The Chesapeake and Ohio is working in thorough accord with the operators, and owing to the easy downhill haul the coal may be carried out with minimum expense. The railroad facilities give an excellent outlet to the great lakes and Western cities, and on account of its hardness the coal may be taken down the Mississippi river in open barges without crumbling. Thus the coal from Eastern Kentucky will meet in great part the demands from points of consumption along the lakes and rivers of the middle West and also from Southern points and with the building of the canal the coal fields of this region will be in line for supplying any demand.

WATER TRANSPORTATION.

Organizations in the Big Sandy valley region are being formed for the purpose of boosting the proposed slack-water navigation, and should the improvements in water transportation be made the Eastern Kentucky fields would receive another outlet. There are good indications pointing to the construction of a railroad line through to the Eastern seaboard during the next few years, and should this line materialize the production of coal could be moved to any point in the country with ease.

Being the only State in the Union with two great coal fields—the Eastern and Western—to draw from, and with one of these fields scarcely touched, it is not hard to foresee that with a few years' development Kentucky will be the leading coal-producing field in the South. The mountains will enter upon an area of prosperity following the development of the natural resources, and will become one of the richest sections of the Union.—W. S. Hudson in Courier-Journal.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

By One of Our Good Ladies That Should be Heeded.

A few days since one of the good ladies of our town requested of us to write an article in regard to the careless habit of throwing loose pieces of waste paper on the streets to be blown hither and thither by the wind, and which gives to our town an untidy and unkept appearance.

This is a good suggestion and should not require mention to be thought of, but we are aware of the fact that many are so careless that they never think of the worry or trouble it may give another for them to carelessly throw down a bit of wrapping paper, a discarded newspaper, or even the wrapper from a newspaper.

The lady referred to told us that she had only a few days before hired some boys to gather up a large basket of old paper which had drifted in the street along the premises, and against the fence, and even some of it blown into the lawn and garden.

With a little care this needless trouble to others could all be avoided. Now let's all be more particular what we do with this waste paper, and we will not only save the needless worry to our friends and neighbors, but we will improve the appearance of our streets and our town at the same time.

Red Men Still Increasing.

Last Wednesday night was regular meeting night of Thopitoulas Tribe, No. 111, and a full attendance was present, and work in both the Adoption and Chiefs' degrees.

Three palefaced, viz: W. M. Baker, A. J. Hale and E. J. Miller were taken captives in the hunting grounds of the tribe and adopted as children of the Red Men.

After this, Will Lockhart and Will Gregory, two warriors who had been adopted some time ago, were exalted to the position of Chiefs, and after passing through the trying ordeal were declared worthy to sit with the chiefs in council.

Other applications were presented and read of those seeking admission, and the lodge continues to grow in numbers and finances.

There is perhaps not another lodge of the same age in the State that has as good a showing as this tribe.

"LAY ON McDUFF

And Cursed be He Who First Cries Enough."

It was not our purpose to become entangled in the controversy which is now on between the editor of the Pineville Herald, and his own townsman, Mr. E. G. Asher, but that distinguished editor has seen cause to refer in uncompromising terms to this paper on numerous occasions and seems to be worried because of the fact that we have permitted Mr. Asher to use these columns to expose the rascality and deception that the Herald man was endeavoring to practice upon the people whom he is dependent on for a living.

After making the statement in the presence of Messrs. Frank Letcher and A. W. Bryant that "Caleb Powers was in jail where he ought to be," and was called down by Mr. Asher and exposed, he then tried to deny it, and sent us an advance sheet of an article that afterward appeared in the Herald denying the statement.

Mr. Letcher, whom almost everyone, both here and at Pineville knows, was here, and after reading the article, branded it as false and reiterated the assertion that Robertson did say just what he had been quoted as saying.

It has always been the policy of THE ADVOCATE to publish the truth when we know it and never to print a bare-faced falsehood, knowing at the time it was one. We therefore declined to print his article, which has brought forth from him the following:

NEWSPAPER ETHICS.

"The ethics of the newspaper profession are well depicted as are the ethics of the profession of law or medicine. Unfortunately some men are sometimes discovered in the newspaper field without adaptation or preparation or qualification for its uplifting duties and obligations. Malice usurps the place of courtesy. Ignorance begets suspicion. Jealousy fosters falsehood. Caution degenerates into cowardice. Sometimes an unmadened man in this noble profession, overestimates the importance of his thoughts and utterances and underestimates the intelligence and refinement of his readers. It is not possible for the small man and the selfish man to conceal his measure or his weakness from a well informed, educated and cultured public familiar with the civilities, courtesies and refinement of life.

We most heartily commend the above quotation which we take from the Somerset Journal. We do not believe that the man who wrote that would ever be guilty of opening his columns to a personal attack without being fair enough to give the one so attacked an equal amount of space for a reply. When a newspaper man forgets his ethics he is as disreputable as the medical quack, the legal quack, or any other quack in consultation. Reputable journals ought not to exchange with quacks and reputable people ought not to read quack papers. We trust the editor of the Knox county paper will take the hint.

We are perfectly willing to let the people be the jury before whom our case is tried, they will sit in judgment and render their own verdict in the matter. We are willing for them to say who has forgotten his ethics, and which of the two papers is entitled to be dubbed as the "quack."

We can agree with our brother of the paste-pot and scissors that

"reputable people ought not to read quack papers," and judging from the statement made by his own townsman that his circulation is eighteen copies, it seems that the reputable people of Bell county are refusing to read his "quack paper."

As we stated last week, we have accomplished our purpose. We "smoked" him out and compelled him to state his politics in direct opposition to his own will or wish, and with that we are satisfied.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Will Hold Their First Annual Meeting Here on June 5 and 6.

The arrangements have been made for the first annual meeting of the Knox County Farmers' Institute, to be held at the Chapel of the Institute, beginning on Monday, June 5, at 9:45 a. m., and continue for two days.

Prominent speakers from Frankfort, Lexington and Columbus, O., have been engaged to lecture during this meeting. Commissioner of Agriculture Hon. Hubert Vreeland will be here and conduct the Institute throughout the meeting.

Prof. J. N. Harner, of the A. and M. College, Lexington, Ky., will be present and deliver an illustrated lecture on Monday night. Everything will be free to the public. Don't miss this the first Farmers' Institute, ever held in Southeastern Kentucky.

It is calculated especially for the farmers and they should avail themselves of the opportunity. Come early and bring your baskets of dinner and stay all day; see and hear all that is to be said and done.

This will be a grand and profitable meeting to our citizens. Farming, good roads and other public improvements will be discussed fully. Don't miss any of it; come and see it through.

Rare Relic.

Mr. Jerry Bengé, of this city, has in his possession a rare relic in the shape of an old Indian pot, which was found in a cave in Harlan county about eight weeks ago.

Last Sunday's Louisville Times contained a good photo of this historical relic, which Mr. Bengé is the proud possessor, and of which he prizes very highly, as it is the only one of its kind known to be in existence.

The pot is in good condition and would hold something more than a gallon. It seems to have been taken from potters clay, and has two lugs or ears to it by which it could be suspended.

Mr. Bengé has refused several tempting offers for his find, but so far has refused to sell it.

The pot is on exhibition at the First National Bank.

BOLD ROBBERY

Nipped by Special Watchman John Bowman.

Negro Shot and Captured. Amputation of the Leg Follows.

Only the first of last week the town was thrown into a state of excitement by the robbery of the store of England, Ellison & Co., and bloodhounds were brought to trail the thieves.

This seems to have no terror to the bold robbers, who returned Friday night, and between 2 and 3 o'clock a. m. Saturday morning broke into the store of A. N. Herdon and were preparing to help themselves to a good supply of goods, when John Bowman, a special watchman, who had been employed by the Council, appeared upon the scene.

Bowman heard the breaking of the window and hurried to the scene just as the one on the inside was in the act of selecting a pair of $4.50 shoes for his own use.

The negro heard Bowman and broke for the side door, and as soon as he appeared on the street Bowman began firing at him. The first shot struck him in the right arm above the elbow and passed through the muscle and pierced the front of his coat. This was followed by several other shots in rapid succession until the negro fell, it was then learned that one of the balls had struck him just above the top of his shoe and ranged upward to within about four inches of the knee, where it came out, shattering the bone so badly that it was necessary to amputate the leg just below the knee. After the amputation of the leg it was discovered that two balls had penetrated the leg in almost the same place, ranging in the same direction, showing that he was hit twice while his heel was in the air.

Drs. Lock and Anderson performed the operation of amputating the leg just before noon Saturday, and Smith is getting well rapidly.

The negro gave his name as John Smith, and stated that his mother lives at Bluefield, W. Va. He says that his partner, who was with him, but escaped the officers, was named Henry Wilson and claimed to be from Pineville. It seems that he has lied about everything he has claimed to reveal, and no one seems to know much about him.

He was arrested here about a year ago for breaking into a freight car but failed to be convicted, as the goods were found in possession of another. He now admits that he stole the goods but the other fellow concealed them and got the sentence.

Smith (as he calls himself) is a large black negro about 25 years of age and has a very hard face. He admits that he is a professional gambler and robber, but works sometimes about the mines and other public works to keep down suspicion.

It was a lucky catch, and we hope will have a tendency to break up the thieving business that has been practiced here for some time past.

Strawberry Social.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church gave an icecream-strawberry supper last Tuesday night at the Knox Hotel, the proceeds for the benefit of the church. A good attendance was present and about $15 was realized.

"IN UNION there is strength." The organization of our farmers into a body to further the interests of farming as a profession is a step in the right direction.

We find there are unions in every profession except the farmer. He stands alone and battles against the cold world with no aid or assistance save his own strength. Now that we have awakened to the situation let's profit by the experience of others. Let's not all try to do one thing and the same thing; let one try one thing and another try some other thing and not pretend, but try. Get all the information we can upon the matter under our special care and apply our whole effort in making the experiment a success. Give a fair trial to every undertaking before we censure it or pronounce it a failure.

Now to illustrate, we will say, let one man try a few acres of alfalfa. It has never been tried here. Let whoever tries it gain all the information possible about the cultivation and care of the crop and then set about to do his best, and while this is going on let someone else be studying and experimenting with some other crop. Then when we have our meetings and give each one the opportunity to exchange experiences we can help one another, and in this way it will only be a short time until our farmers would be the best farmers and the best posted on the subject of farming of any county in the State. This is what our farmers' club is calculated to do for our farmers by being thoroughly organized and devoting the necessary time to the work.

Get all your friends to join in the movement.

We have ever and often cast about for a more favorable location in the mountains to build a wide-awake town than that testosted by nature upon Barbourville, but as yet we have failed to find it.

There are acres of land yet unoccupied here that should be converted into factory sites, and we have every natural advantage that it is possible to bestow upon us, being supplied with both fuel and water right at hand. We have an abundance of timber here that should be worked in to furniture or converted into manufactured goods before being shipped away.

Our fertile valleys would afford a large supply of raw material for a canning factory and no better place could be secured than our town affords, with so many advantages and opportunities. We often pause to wonder why it is that those having money hesitate to put on foot some of these enterprises.

WE ARE left to believe that the good people of Knox county duly appreciate the efforts that we have put forth to make THE MOUNTAIN ADVOCATE an up-to-date newspaper and give its readers the news. There are now a number who have their names enrolled upon our mailing list who are entirely satisfied with the service we have given them and do not want the paper stopped; yet they have run over the time paid for, and we are still waiting for them to bring or send in the dollar for renewal.

It is our desire to add steam power to our plant, and if a few hundred of our legion of friends will respond promptly to this notice with their renewals, and those who have not yet had their names added to our list will take up the refrain and join in, we will in the near future have our large press running by power furnished from a more substantial and endurable source than the present method of foot-power.

Now come along and give us a lift at the present and we will show you how much it will be appreciated by giving you, if possible, a better newspaper than we have done in the past.

This is only asking for what is ours, and we are by right entitled to it. Don't delay, but come in a hurry. This applies to you, dear readers. "Then act the man."

Our Farmers' Club has succeeded in injecting new life into many of its members who are taking hold with a vim. This should be encouraged; and now that the first Farmers' Institute ever held in Southeastern Kentucky is to be held here on Monday and Tuesday, June 5th and 6th, We hope to see a large gathering of farmers and those interested in the cause, and predict a pleasant meeting, and at the same time a very profitable one.

A very interesting program is being arranged and all who come will be highly entertained. Come early and bring your basket and stay all day. See and hear it all. Remember it will be here to all. Speakers will be here from various parts of the State, and also from other States. Don't miss any of it.

All of these meetings will be held in the Chapel room of the Baptist Institute.

Remember the time and place.

A RECENT decision rendered by the Court of Appeals in a case taken up from Muhlenberg county gives the sale of hard cider a knock-out blow. The decision is as follows:

"An indictment which charges that the defendant unlawfully and willfully sold by retail a beverage, liquid mixture or decoction which causes or produces intoxication, in territory in which the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors is prohibited in accordance with the local option, is good under Kentucky Statutes, Section 2567a, which prohibits the sale of 'any beverage, liquid mixture or decoction of any kind which produces or causes intoxication' in such territory, and it is not necessary to name in the indictment the mixture or decoction that was sold."

It is almost time for our town to begin to look after the ticket that will be voted for at the coming November election. There will be a Mayor and Board of Council to be elected, as well as a Police Judge, and we should elect good, wide-awake men for all these places. Let's have a good ticket, one that when elected will fill these offices creditably and look to the future of the town. We have no criticism to offer to the present board, and if they are going to stand for re-election it is almost time for the people to know it.

THE thought suggested a few weeks ago that we have a canning factory located here has met with universal approval among our readers and the farmers generally through out the county, as they come in and express themselves to us. Now let's not allow this subject to be dropped without taking some action, and by the opening of another season the plant should be ready for operation.

The farmers are ready to make this a success, and will turnish the goods to be canned, and we feel that it would prove a profitable undertaking.

STINGERS PLUCKED FROM THE YELLOW JACKET.

Democrats might reorganize under the name of "Howl Party."

Marriage is intended to make one of two, but it often turns out half a dozen or more.

The fellow that yells "Stop thief!" the loudest may be the biggest thief in the whole gang.

A religion that isn't fit to wear everyday in the week is worthless on Sunday.

The Democratic party seems to be suspended in the air by the tail, and it is howling and clawing at everything it sees, and lots of things it don't see.

The Democrat who howls the loudest and the longest is generally the one that wants an office the "baddest."

When a woman is willing to squeeze herself into the shape of a hour glass at the behest of fashion god, it shows that she has lots of sand.

The capital P's in Democratic printing offices are not near so much in demand this year as they were last year. You won't need to ask the reason.

Bryan has set in once to divide the sheep from the goats, but they have become so intermixed that it is making him sweat to tell which is 'tother.

"The rights of man" is a noble battle-cry, but it sounds as flat as pouring batter into a coal scuttle, when it comes from the lips of a Southern Democrat.

You should not be without some of Bowman's fine Mineral drinks during the hot days that are near at hand.

 These reduced rates are in effect on certain dates in months of May to October, inclusive. They apply from all Eastern points via Chicago, St. Louis or Memphis gateways. The Rock Island System will take you up in either Chicago or St. Louis, or at hundreds of other Middle West points and carry you to the Coast in through Standard or Tourist Sleepers with unexcelled Dining Car service. The Rock Island also affords a choice of routes: on the "Scenic" route you can stop off in Colorado—see Salt Lake City—visit Yellowstone National Park; on the "Southern" route you can go via El Paso, thru New Mexico, then "up coast" to San Francisco and on to Portland or Seattle if desired.
 In short, these Pacific Coast excursions offer an unusually good chance to see our western country in a comprehensive manner.
 If you desire to go only as far as Colorado, there are excursion rates in effect to that section at 3rd return, all summer long, specially reduced June 30 to July 4, August 12 and 13, and August 30 to September 4. Extension trips to Ogden or Salt Lake and return at low cost also.
 From September 15 to October 31, 1905, one-way tourist or "colonist" tickets will be on sale to California and the Pacific Northwest—about half regular fare.
 If interested, send name and address on this coupon, designating which booklet wanted and to what point you plan to go. Name probably date of start also, so we can advise definitely with respect to rates, etc.

Crude Thoughts as they Fall from the Editorial Pen. Pleasant Evening Reveries.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

A Column Dedicated to True Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

If there is a stone, stump, or other unsightly object in the yard, plant some morning glories, cypress vines, canary flowers and balloon vines (love puffs) around it. You'll be glad it was there before the summer is over. Do the same way with the mind. If dark, ugly thoughts persist in obstructing themselves, plant flowers around them and they will disappear.

BE sure that your trade, your profession, your calling in life is a good one—one that God and goodness sanctions; then be true as steel to it. Think for it, plan for it, work for it, live for it; throw your mind, might, strength, heart and soul into your actions for it, and success will crown you her favored child. No matter whether your object be great or small, whether it be the planting of a nation or a patch of potatoes, the same perseverance is necessary. Everybody admires an iron determination, and comes to the aid of him who directs it for good.

PATIENCE is the guardian of faith, the preserver of peace, the cherisher of love, the teacher of humility. Patience governs the flesh, strengthens the spirit, sweetens the temper, stifles anger, extinguishes envy, subdues pride; she bridles the tongue, restrains the hand, tramples upon temptations, endures persecutions. Patience is the courage of virtue, enabling us to lessen pain of mind or body; it does not so much add to the number of our joys as it tends to diminish the number of our sufferings. Labor is still, and ever will be, the inevitable price set upon everything which is valuable.

HOW quickly we Americans exhaust life. With what panting haste we pursue every thing. Every American you meet seems to be late for a train. Hurry is stamped in the wrinkles of the American face. We pride ourselves upon being practical men, men who strike sledge-hammer blows in our business, men who make business of recreation, even. We are men of action, we die without it; we go faster and faster as the years go by, speed or machinery to the utmost, stretch the silver cord of life until it snaps. We have not even leisure to die a natural death, we go at high pressure into the boiler bursts. We have actually changed the type of our diseases to suit our changed constitution. Instead of the lingering maladies of our fathers, we drop down and die of heart disease or apoplexy, now so common, formerly so rare. Even death has adopted our terrible gait. If we could spend a few hours each day in the home circle or romping with the children, it would lengthen our days and increase our happiness. Let's try it.

"POST MORTEM KINDNESS"

Life's sunshine is braided with death's shadow. We have attended many funerals—one stands out with special sadness. The faithful wife and mother lay still and at rest. True flowers were many and beautiful. Always and everywhere appropriate, their perfumed lips spoke of the eternal gardens and the hly sang its gladness Easter song. The service was over. There was a last fond kiss and look. As the heart-broken left the coffin she said: "Mamma loved flowers—she never had many—but she has now." Yes, we thought, but how much better it had been had some of these beautiful flowers had sweetened the mother's heart before it was still in death.

Poor Carlyle! He little appreciated the wife who cared for him so kindly and made possible his literary success. It all came to him after she died. He went to the place where she was last seen, bared his head in the wind and rain, and said: "O! if I could but see her for five minutes to assure her that I had really cared for her throughout all that! But she never knew it—she never knew it!" Mary gave the alabaster box of affection before the Lord's death. Many others died until the flowers they send are for the sepulchre. Better late than never. Better never late. The kind words you intend to say, say now. The sympathy you expect to show, show now. Record your love now in your friend's tombstone days not in the future on his dreary tombstone. What are hot tears on the marble brow—loving words in the heavy ear—or a fragrant rose in death's white fingers?

GOD BLESS OUR DAD.

In most every home you will see over the door the legend worked in letters of red: "What is Home without a Mother?"

Across the room is another brief design: "God bless our home." Now, what's the matter with "God Bless Our Dad?"

He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg, grabs a dinner pail and wipes off the dew of the dawn with his boots while many a mother is sleeping. He makes the weekly hand-out for the benefit of the grocer, milkman, butcher and baker, and his little pile is badly worn before he has been home an hour. He stands off the bailiff and keeps the rent paid up. If Johnnie needs a new pair of boots "cause he's just walking on the ground," dad goes down in his hip pocket and comes up with the price of a hard day's sweat. If Mary needs a new ribbon for her back hair, mother yearns for a new wrapper, and the baby howls for a rattle, down goes dad again and comes up with the coin.

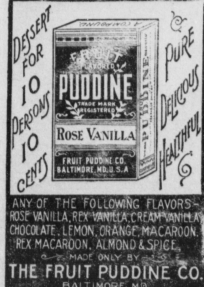

But if he buys a pipe for a quarter because the old one is getting "kinda" strong, he is warned that smoking is an expensive habit and that men have smoked up blocks and farms and happy homes. When show times arrive dad comes up with the price and ma goes out with the neighbors and Flora sparks her beau in the parlor. Dad's clothes are none too good and grim with stick, he sits in the kitchen with the kids. If there is a noise during the night he is kicked in the back and made to go down stairs and find the burglar and kill him.

Mother darns the socks, yes she does, but dad bought the socks in the first place and the needles and yarn afterward. Mother does up the fruit. Well, dad bought it all, and jays cost like the mischief. Dad buys chicken for the Sunday dinner, carves itself and draws the neck from the ruins after everyone else is served.

"What is Home Without a Mother?" Yes, that is all right. But what is home without a father? Ten to one it is a boarding house, father is under a slab, and the landlady is the widow.

Dad, here's to you! You've got your god d points and they will miss you when you are gone.

Editor D. Will Clark, of the Barbourville Advocate, was in our office Tuesday, and we were glad to make his acquaintance. He has the appearance of being too sensible a man to be in earnest about making a new State out of parts of Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee—London Local.

We are glad we made a good impression upon Mr. Pearl, who himself has the appearance of an intelligent gentleman, and we were led to believe that he was such. Then we wonder why he would wish to further cramp the good people of this section of the State on whom he is relying for his living, by opposing a dissolution of the bonds that now bind us to the Bluegrass, and which is regarded by the Bluegrass element as a millstone about their neck, while we are equally as anxious to be separated from them and given an opportunity to show our ability to govern ourselves, develop our territory and make of the much hated and abused mountains the greatest and richest section of our sisterhood of States.

Union College Notes.

On last Friday night the young men of the Philonikian Society entertained the Speed Society, the faculty and a number of friends. It was the most enjoyable occasion of the year. The Philos gave a good literary program, after which the meeting assumed an informal aspect. During this time lunch, cream and cake were served, and a quintet of Philos furnished music. Just before time for adjournment Prof. Faulkner gave a very interesting and much appreciated talk, recounting some of his experiences in connection with Union College, and paying a high tribute to the young men of the society. He said it would be the last time a meeting of the kind would be held in the old Philonikian Hall, as it will soon be remodeled, and that it would be the last time he would be able to attend such a meeting. Every one had a good time, yet there was a sadness in the hearts of all, for we realized that those present would never meet in the same capacity again.

To-night the Philos will hold their last session for the year. The subject for debate is: Resolved, That the street railway systems of our great cities should pass under municipal control. Affirmative, W. E. Faulkner, R. L. Fellows; negative, E. E. Evans, James Abner.

State News.

The Thirty-fifth Annual Meeting of the Kentucky Dental Association was in session at Lexington this week. About one hundred delegates were present.

Charles B. Pearce, one of the most prominent citizens of Maysville, died at his home last Sunday night.

All efforts have failed to get Gov. Peckham to open the case of George Warner, of Louisville, under sentence for the murder of Pulaski Leeds, and Warner will be hanged this morning at the Louisville jail.

B. M. Cox, Town Marshal at Harlan C. H., fatally shot Carlo Hall last Tuesday. There seems to be no chance for his recovery. Cox went to arrest Hall, who was sitting in front of W. W. Noe's store and persons present say he resisted arrest and drew his gun and began shooting, but Cox in some way was more successful. He shot him three times, twice in the body and once in the leg.

Haran Brandenburg, of Booneville, was given 18 years in the penitentiary for the murder of Henry Lynch, four years ago.

At the meeting of the State Oculists this week in Lexington, Dr. J. W. Keller, of Georgetown, was elected first vice-president for the ensuing year, Dr. L. J. Bachus, of Louisville, being elected president. Dr. Keller read a strong paper on "Spectacle Children," which was published in the daily papers.

My Own Story BY Caleb Powers

This book is a calm, dispassionate account, from the standpoint of the man most interested, of the conditions in Kentucky leading to the assassination of William Goebel, and of Powers' indictment and conviction on the charge of complicity in his murder.

It covers his youth in the mountains of Kentucky, the conventions of 1899, the election, the shooting of Goebel, the arrest, the three trials and the prison life.

For dramatic situations, human interest and political importance, the case of Caleb Powers is unequaled.
